

Elizabeth Merendino

Elizabeth Merendino, originally from New York, received a Bachelor of Music degree with performance honors from Syracuse University and a Master of Fine Arts degree from Columbia Teachers College. As classically trained singer, she has given several recitals including works by Brahms, Ravel and Poulenc. Her true loves are jazz and musical theater. Elizabeth has performed in several NY clubs as a soloist and with a swing group called the Boogie Brawds. Elizabeth has also performed with many amateur theater groups in New York, London, Tokyo and Hong Kong. Some performance credits include Adelaide in Guys and Dolls, Babe in the Pajama Game and Erma in Anything Goes. Elizabeth has been working as a primary/secondary music teacher in the international school system for the past eight years and has taught/coached private voice students for ten years.